Picture right shows the Home Minister along with MLA Ramdas inspecting the under-construction house adjacent to Kulkarni's residence.

Kulkarni

Mysuru, Nov. 10 (GA&KS)- Home Minister Araga Jnanendra, who arrived in city yesterday evening, visited the house of former Intelligence Bureau (IB) Officer R.N. Kulkarni (82) at Sharadadevinagar here and offered condolences to his wife and children. He also instructed the City Police Commissioner to provide adequate security to the family.

It may be mentioned, the former IB Officer was fatally knocked down by a car when he was on his routine evening stroll in Manasagangothri campus at about 5.45 pm on Nov. 4 by his (Kulkarni) neighbour Madappa's younger son Manu with help from his friend Varun Gowda. The two accused were arrested by the Police three days after the incident.

Speaking to media persons later, the Home Minister said that Kulkarni, who had served in the Intelligence Bureau at the Centre, had settled down in Mysuru after his retirement while his children were staying abroad.

Stating that Kulkarni was murdered by fatally knocking him down by a car deliberately while he was on his evening walk to project it as a road accident, the Home Minister lauded the City Police for their speedy investigation into the murder case by arresting two persons.

Nov. 12 is deadline to clear illegal construction by Kulkarni's neighbour: MCC Commissioner

Reddy

Mysuru, Nov. 10 (SPN&BCT)- Responding to the questions raised by reporters yesterday on the illegal construction next to the house of retired Intelligence Bureau Officer R.N. Kulkarni that was the motive behind the officer's murder and the alleged delay by the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) in vacating the unauthorised construction, MCC Commissioner G. Lakshmikantha Reddy said that there was no delay and a proper procedure was followed.

"The MCC has issued two notices to the building owner (Kulkarni's neighbour whose son and his friend have now been arrested for the murder) and the deadline mentioned in the final notice is Nov. 12. The building owner has to clear the illegal construction by the said date after the receipt of the notice. Otherwise, the MCC will resort to demolition," the Commissioner clarified.

'If the neighbour fails to demolish, we will demolish,' says MCC

"Kulkarni's neighbour had constructed a building without leaving set-back, violating the rules formulated by the MCC. The issue was brought to our notice by the retired IB Officer. After this, the MCC, following the normal procedure, issued the notice and the final notice was issued on Nov. 2 directing the house owner to clear the illegal construction. The notice period ends on Nov. 12. If the house owner does not clear the illegality by then, the MCC staff will clear the same and the full cost of demolition will be recovered from the house owner," Reddy said.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Clinical anxiety and depression are barely-discussed modern day pandemics. One manifests as excessive apprehension and restlessness; the other as emptiness and lethargy. Science attributes these illnesses to genetic and environmental factors (like childhood trauma and abuse). However, if one delves deeper, you'll find two primary spiritual reasons for the above illnesses: Denying one's shadows and living in inauthenticity.

A human being can't be a storehouse of positive emotions alone. Just like human engineering comprises love, joy, peace and goodwill; it also feels pain, hurt, resentment and anger. Where there's light, there's shadow.

This is an inevitable truth, which is denied by New Age spiritual gurus. When toxic positivity is aggressively espoused, humans are likely to feel guilty about even a hint of negative emotion and end up suppressing the same. This is counterproductive and unhealthy! Repressed emotions can be the root cause of psychological as well as somatic illnesses. Authenticity is partly about owning one's emotions, irrespective of whether they are positive or negative, and allowing yourself to feel them. It's about allowing all manner of emotions to swim up to the surface of your consciousness and observing them detachedly. Allowing every emotion to fully run its course causes it to completely integrate with the consciousness, leading to a healthy, well-adjusted personality. It's only when one shines light on one's shadows can one's consciousness heal and expand.

4,000 people bounce on trampolines

Mexico : Mexico City broke a Guinness World Record when 3,935 people participated in a 45-minute trampoline fitness class.

Claudia Sheinbaum, head of the Mexico City government, announced on Twitter that the event successfully broke the Guinness World Record for largest such class Sunday in Mexico City's Plaza del Plinth.

Organizers said more than 4,000 people bounced on trampolines for the full time during the class, but 130 participants were disqualified, leaving the total at 3,935 people.

The attempt was witnessed by a Guinness adjudicator, who confirmed the record was set.

Artwork hanging upside down for over 75 years

New York: New York City I is one of Dutch abstract artist Piet Mondrian's most important works but experts now believe it has been the wrong way up for decades.

Despite the realisation, it will remain that way in case the strips used in the artwork come loose.

The picture was created in 1941 and first put on display at the Museum of Modern Art in New York in 1945. Since 1980 it's been hung in the Kunstsammlung Nordrhein-Westfalen art collection in Dusseldorf, Germany.

At an event for the artist's anniversary exhibition, curator Susanne Meyer-Buser talked about the history of the artwork - which uses red, yellow, blue and black adhesive strips - then stunned the audience by revealing its secret.

She said she'd come across a photo from Mondrian's studio, taken a few days after his death in 1944.

Is water billing online a rocket technology ?

Sir,

While the whole country is moving on fast track with digital payments, including footpath vendors, it seems that MCC is still in deep sleep. Since February 2022, the water bill which used to be generated online has disappeared. On enquiry with the concerned, the answer is 'they are working'.

I wonder here what is there to work. Is there any special code to be written ? Why, is it a rocket technology ?

I pity consumers who visit the VVWW counters to pay, that too the counter near the Vijayanagar water tank, where one has to make herculean efforts to enter the premises, due to bad condition, forget walking here.

I hope, MCC will wake up from its deep slumber at least now and generate water bills online and ensure receipts by Google Pay, Phone Pe or as the case may be.

Palike Adalat from Nov. 14 to 19 for grievance redressal

Final Adalat to be held on Nov. 30; Public can call Control Room on 94498-41196 for more details

Mysuru, Nov. 10 (SPN&BCT)- In order to enable speedy delivery of Government services to the residents of Mysuru, the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) has launched a Palike Adalat from Nov. 14 to 19 where the public can avail over nine services.

Public can file applications between Nov. 14 and 19 at the MCC Office from 11 am to 4.30 pm and the final Adalat, where the grievances will be addressed, has been organised on Nov. 30. For more details, the public can contact MCC Control Room on Mob: 94498-41196.

Addressing a press conference at Old Council Hall last evening, Mayor Shivakumar, flanked by elected representatives and officials, said that the MCC had received various complaints about non-redressal of grievances and the Adalat has been organised for quick delivery of services.

The services that will be open at the Adalat are: Khata registration, transfer, beneficiaries of Ashraya Scheme at all the three constituencies (Chamaraja, Krishnaraja and Narasimharaja) can apply for possession certificates, Khata registration and transfer, building approval plan, Completion Report (CR) for buildings, commercial licence, applications to sanction advertisement hoardings and birth & death certificate grievances.

There will be no opportunity to submit applications for new house sites or houses at the Adalat and such facilities will be open only when the MCC officially invites applications, the Mayor said. "Public who have earlier applied for various services in the MCC at the Main Office or at the Zonal Offices but their pleas have not been considered so far or have been delayed by officers can approach the Adalat for speedy redressal of their grievances," Shivakumar added.

Regarding previous applications that have not been addressed, residents can apply for Palike Adalat with the copies of earlier applications as their supporting documents.

"All the applications that have been submitted between Nov. 14 and 19 will be scrutinised and a suitable decision will be taken by Nov. 27. Those applications that have been rejected will have the reasons for rejection as a footnote. Those residents whose grievances have not been addressed or if there is no information regarding their application, can approach the final Palike Adalat to be held on Nov. 30," the Mayor added.

Acknowledgements, along with serial numbers, will be handed over to all the applicants for future references.

Deputy Mayor Dr. G. Roopa, MCC Commissioner G. Lakshmikantha Reddy and officers from all the nine Zones were present.

After Karnataka cites ecological damage...

Kerala to float fresh proposal to link Wayanad and Kadakola

Alternative to Thalassery-Mysuru, Nilambur-Nanjangud Railway lines that pass through two Tiger Reserves

Mysuru, Nov. 10 (BCT)- After failing to procure mandatory environment clearances to the two controversial Railway projects between Kerala (Wayanad) and Karnataka via Mysuru, the Kerala Government is pushing for a fresh proposal that will link Wayanad and Kadakola in Mysuru. According to the Kerala Government, this line will not pass through any reserve forest.

Karnataka has cold-shouldered the two proposals of the Kerala Government to construct railway lines from Thalassery to Mysuru via Kodagu or Wayanad and from Nilambur to Nanjangud. The projects were scheduled to be implemented by Kerala Rail Development Corporation Limited (KRDCL).

But successive Governments in Karnataka have opposed the projects as they cut through the Bandipur and Nagarahole Tiger Reserves and also the sensitive biodiversity areas. Karnataka has repeatedly cited environmental degradation and irreparable damage to environment, ecology and forests and has stalled the projects. The pressure tactics exerted by the Kerala Government on the Centre too did not work for KRDCL as the Union Railway Ministry has maintained that the projects will be approved and taken up only if the two States agree.

Petitions in Court

Petitions were filed in the Karnataka High Court by environmental activists and the Court too ruled that the Kerala Government has to procure mandatory permission from the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change (MoEF&CC) and also from the Karnataka Forest Department before taking up the projects.

The Kerala Government even suggested the underground route and claimed that if the Railway lines are laid underground wherever it passes through the Tiger Reserves, it will not cause much damage.

This proposal too was turned down by Karnataka that maintained that the sensitive ecology would be harmed while executing the works and even later, groundwater will deplete if tunnels run deep inside the earth.

Left with little options, the Kerala Government is pushing for the line that will link Koyilandy in Kozhikode district in Kerala to Kadakola in Mysuru via Kalpetta in Kerala.

Krishnarajapura in H.D. Kote link

Reports from Kozhikode said that the line will be 190 kilometres in length and on the Karnataka's side, the Railway route will reach Krishnarajapura, a small village in Heggadadevanakote (H.D. Kote) taluk from Kerala and will pass through Hampapura and Bidaragodu to reach Kadakola.

As per reports, this is the only line or route between Wayanad and Mysuru districts without disturbing the wildlife habitats. If this line becomes a reality, the distance between Kozhikode and Mysuru will be reduced by 230 kms as against the existing distance of 715 kms via Bengaluru and 507 kms via Mangaluru, reports said.

Even for this line, environmental clearances will have to be obtained from the Forest Departments of Karnataka and Kerala, State and National Wildlife Boards and also from the National Tiger Conservation Authority and MoEF&CC. While the clearances from Kerala Forest Department will be a cakewalk as the project will benefit the neighbouring State, it remains to be seen how Karnataka will respond to the new line.

A humane approach for stray dog menace

Dog shelter coming up at Rayanakere

Mysuru, Nov. 10 (MTY&BCT)- Walk around the city and one will find hundreds of dogs tied to the gates or living under harsh conditions at all open spaces and nearby hotels and street food-joints.

With many recent events of dog biting, residents are at loggerheads with stray dog feeders. Amid this, a street dog rehabilitation centre is coming up at Rayanakere that will provide food, shelter and medical care to community dogs or street dogs.

A first-of-its-kind initiative in Karnataka, the dog home will be opened by Dec. 25 and hundreds of strays from the core city areas will be shifted here. The rehabilitation home is being built at a cost of Rs. 4 crore in a 3.4-acre land. Krishnaraja MLA S.A. Ramdas inspected the facility yesterday and asked the officers to speed up the work.

"We have been receiving complaints about stray dog menace and their ever-increasing population despite several birth-control measures. There were sporadic incidents of dog attacks and dog bites as well. Some residents were venting their anger against dog feeders, blaming them for the menace. We have to look at the problem with compassion," he said.

"Strays have to bear the vagaries of weather with temperatures dropping to low levels and also rains. While people stay cosy and comfortable indoors, these strays suffer in algid weather. The intention of the shelter is to protect the animals and at the same time, bring down their menace on the streets," Ramdas said.

Haphazard urban planning and overpopulation have led to a correspondingly huge population of street dogs.

"We have seen how street dogs suffered during lockdown and we have also seen how they were fed and taken care of by many concerned citizens and stray lovers. With the new shelter coming up, the residents and even the strays can breathe easy as the food and shelter of strays will be taken care of," he added.

The dog shelter will have a couple of sections where the strays will be given shelter. While healthy dogs will be housed in one section, the other will house sick strays. There will be a separate section for seriously ill dogs and facilities for treatment will be provided. There will be an exclusive section for pups, officers said.

Abracadabra... Abracadabra...

Intelligence Bureau: Kulkarni's complaint

Here we are reproducing an Abracadabra titled "Intelligence Bureau: Kulkarni's complaint" published in two parts in Star of Mysore dated 2nd June 2004 and 3rd June 2004 after his book "Sin of National Conscience" was released on 27th May 2004 at the Rotary Mysore. However, we are republishing the first part only. — Ed

"Ye shall know the TRUTH and the TRUTH shall make you FREE." — John 8:32.

The above quote from the Bible is inscribed on the plaque at the entrance to the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) of America. That is its motto and I suppose rightly so for the simple reason, it is an agency of the US Department of Justice that investigates violations of federal laws that are not specifically assigned to other agencies, being particularly concerned with internal security.

How I wish our country too had an institution like this. Forget CBI.

In contrast, America has that dreaded Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), which is actively intervening in the affairs of other countries overseas in a covert manner. Its role during the cold war period in spying on USSR and its efforts in undermining the Communists and the Left Wing regimes all over the world is well-known.

In India, we have CBI playing a role similar to the FBI while RAW (Research and Analysis Wing) is engaged in a role similar to the CIA. The only critical difference between the American agencies and the Indian is that our CBI and RAW are incompetent, unprofessional and emasculated by political interference. In between, we have also the Intelligence Bureau (IB).

Last Thursday, the 27th May, I had released a book on the Intelligence Bureau at the Rotary Mysore, written by a former Officer (Operative) of the Intelligence Bureau, Mr. R.N. Kulkarni.

The title of the book is Sin of National Conscience. A tricky headline, just like the tricks the IB people play in the course of their work. Probably, the title wants to proclaim that it is a sin to have a national conscience.

Just recently, we had heard Mrs. Sonia Gandhi speak of her 'inner conscience' and acting accordingly. Here, the suggestion may be, it is no good having a national conscience which carries the attribute of patriotism. And to have such a national conscience may tantamount to a sin.

However, this confusion about the title is fortunately cleared because of an illustration of a seal carrying prominently the name Intelligence Bureau (see picture above).

Be that as it may, the author has made his intention clear in writing this book when he says in the Author's Note that "The purpose of this book is to reach out to the people of India and it is intended to trigger a process of debate and reformation for the good of the country."

Well, if this is the intention of Mr. Kulkarni in his nearly four years of labour writing this book, then it is certainly not a sin to have a national conscience.

Mr. Kulkarni believes the people of this country, including the educated ones, are totally ignorant of what he calls the "holy cow Intelligence Bureau." I appreciate his pious hope that after the educated among our law-makers, if not the people of India, read this book, "the future of IB may be addressed rationally" and the trishanku swarga status of IB in the eyes of the law may be corrected in the form of a Parliamentary legislation, giving IB a new independent status and legitimacy like CBI or the RAW.

As we, the people of India, do not know and as Mr. Kulkarni and all the employees and operatives of IB know, the IB, as of now, is the creature of an executive order of the British rulers going back to over 100 years.

Surprisingly, even after independence, the Indian law-makers simply carried on with the IB as it was constituted by the British and the fact that it was not constituted under any Act of Parliament remained.

As a result, the IB, which is considered the eyes and ears of Central Government, has no defined character. Nobody knows its official status even to this day — whether it is a Civil Service, Police Service, Armed Police, Military or Paramilitary Service. According to Mr. Kulkarni, the confusion is such, the civilians carry Police baggage and vice-versa. He gives a number of actual work examples to prove this point.

His main grouse seems to be that the Indian Police Service (IPS) has effectively appropriated the organisation at the expense of IB's civil employees and more importantly, at the expense of the very purpose for which IB is created — collection of true intelligence.

Actually, the IPS officers are both interlopers and usurpers of IB. The author explains at length, why.

The book is a product of Mr. Kulkarni's hurt feelings. At least that was the feeling I got while reading through the book. It is also an expression of his concern for the nation's security under IB. It reflects the genuine sentiments of IB employees, says Mr. Kulkarni and I suppose, it serves as a book of caution and guidance for the present and future civil IB employees too.

The book is also an alarm for our new law-makers that the country can no longer have a hotchpotch institution or a loosely organised Intelligence Bureau. As a result of the many organisational and operational deficiencies of IB, the country has suffered in the past many intelligence failures.

Mr. Kulkarni gives the recent example of intrusion of Pakistani soldiers in the guise of Mujaheedin in the Kargil sector, the hijacking of Indian Airlines flight IC 814 from Kathmandu and the Godhra carnage in Feb. 2002, as high profile intelligence failures on the part of the IB.

The book, "Sin of National Conscience," is well-produced.

voice@starofmysore.com

Not surprisingly, in the last and the 12th chapter of the book, rather appropriately titled A cry in the wilderness, Mr. Kulkarni bemoans his plight with the 'holy cow IB' for 35 years and reproduces some letters he has written to the Prime Minister and the Home Minister in this regard.

And also another letter written to the IB Director in 1998, just before his retirement. He concludes his letter with a moral statement, Dharmo Rakshati Rakshitaha. The book, which carries a prologue, also has an epilogue, which speaks of the Karma of the author and his final liberation from the worldly bonds. Suddenly you find Mr. Kulkarni having loaded 441 pages with matters mundane and material, turning metaphysical and spiritual. Having given vent to his feelings to the extent he could, he seems to heave a sigh of relief, unburdening himself of the "Sin of National Conscience." He forgives everyone he has discussed in the book, saying he neither nourished malice nor ill-will towards the political tribe or the Police, almost like Jesus Christ, who said on the Cross: "God, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

Home Minister

"Many prefer to settle down in Mysuru after retirement and there are many such elderly persons residing here. The murder of the former IB Officer for raising his voice against injustice should not send a wrong message to the society. Police will be instructed to take action against such issues in the initial stage itself to prevent such unfortunate incidents from taking place," the Home Minister said.

Stating that Kulkarni's fight against building violation will be followed up and will not allow it to go futile, Araga Jnanendra said that the Police will ensure that the accused are punished.

"The family members of Kulkarni will get justice and security will be provided to the family members. The issue pertaining to violations in the building construction was in the Court. After Kulkarni had lodged a Police complaint as there was a threat to his life, the Police had summoned both Kulkarni and his neighbour and had taken a written statement, asking them to sort out the issue in the Court. But still, the murder took place. Such incidents should not recur," the Home Minister added.

Later, the Home Minister also inspected the under-construction building next to late Kulkarni's house that had violated the building byelaws.

MLA S.A. Ramdas, City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta and others accompanied the Home Minister.

MCC Commissioner

Footpath encroachment: On the rampant encroachment of footpaths on all the roads in the heart of the city where pedestrians face a harrowing time to walk on the occupied footpaths, the MCC Commissioner said that the process was on to identify the footpath vendors and vacate them. "We have received numerous complaints of footpath encroachment especially on Sayyaji Rao Road, near K.R. Circle. A permanent solution will be found after discussing the issue with the Police," he said.

He inaugurated the Alanahalli Police Station adjacent to Bannur Road near Devegowda Circle, which has been built at a cost of Rs. 2.15 crore, Hebbal Police Station behind the Public Library near Kuvempu Circle on Hebbal Main Road, built at an estimated cost of Rs. 2.15 crore.

The Minister was accorded a warm welcome at all the four places and was extended a Guard of Honour by uniformed personnel. All the Police Department buildings were constructed by Karnataka Police Housing Corporation under the leadership of ADGP Arun Chakravarthy. The Home Minister inspected all the facilities and interiors of the Police Stations and the administrative blocks and the hostel buildings and lock-ups at the Police Stations.

Committed to Police welfare

Later speaking to reporters, the Home Minister claimed that the Government is concerned about the Police personnel, who strive hard to maintain law and order in the State round-the-clock throughout the year.

"The present BJP Government has implemented the recommendations of the Auradkar Committee Report aimed at improving the welfare of Police personnel that includes new offices and also accommodation facilities. After taking charge we have brought various developments in the Police Department," he said.

The Police have been facing challenges of modern-day crimes and importance has been given to upgrade the force by providing modern equipment and technology to ensure that criminals are brought to book. The Government has been releasing funds according to the needs for equipment and modernisation, he added.

Housing 2025 scheme

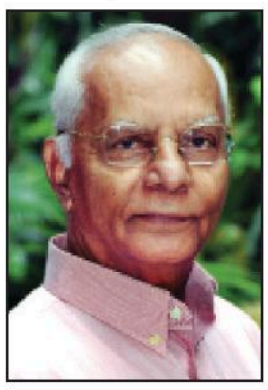
"I am happy that the proactive role of the State Government in keeping the Police force well-equipped and happy was praised at the recently held Home Ministers' Conference in Haryana. We have planned to build 10,000 houses for the Police personnel under the Housing 2025 scheme. We have also planned to build 100 Police Stations at a cost of Rs. 200 crore. In the coming days, 140 Police Stations will be upgraded," the Home Minister added.

The Police Department has initiated a recruitment drive to fill vacant posts. "When we came to power, 35 percent posts in the Police Department were vacant and now, only 12,000 posts are vacant. All efforts are being made to make Police Stations people-friendly, he claimed.

Prasad and others were present on the occasion.

A long journey of R.N. Kulkarni to get justice

Mysuru, Nov. 10 (OSR)- The alleged murder case of R.N. Kulkarni, former IB Officer, on 4.11.2022 had its origin in a complaint made by R.N. Kulkarni as long back as 18.12.2021 to the Assistant Commissioner of Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Zone-3 regarding the illegal construction, according to Kulkarni's family sources.



R.N. Kulkarni

Since there was no response and the illegal construction was going on, Kulkarni lodged a complaint with the MCC Commissioner on 11.2.2022, after nearly two months.

In the meanwhile, on 9.2.2022, a complaint was given by R.N. Kulkarni to the Police Commissioner who directed the Police Inspector of Saraswathipuram to personally visit and take action. Subject of the complaint was: Threat to safety of the property and physical well-being, sufferance of abusive, vulgar language and subtle threat to life.

Since there was no action from the MCC, Kulkarni filed a suit on 18.2.2022 in the Court of the III Additional Civil Judge at Mysuru (OS No. 355 of 2022). Pending this suit, Kulkarni submitted a representation to the MCC Commissioner to take action for illegal construction on 4.6.2022. But no action. Surprisingly, Kulkarni himself got a notice from MCC accusing Kulkarni of constructing an illegal building and to demolish the same. Anyway, this was dropped after Kulkarni gave the reply.

However, on 23.6.2022, MCC gave notice to Kulkarni's neighbour to demolish illegal construction. Again it gave notice on 14.7.2022 to clear illegal construction within 15 days as per law. But even after three months, nothing was done.

Left without any option, Kulkarni then filed a writ petition in the High Court to direct the MCC Commissioner to take action as per law. It is learnt, the case was posted to 3.11.2022. In the changed circumstances, it is to be seen what future course the case would take. Justice seems to be elusive to Kulkarni.

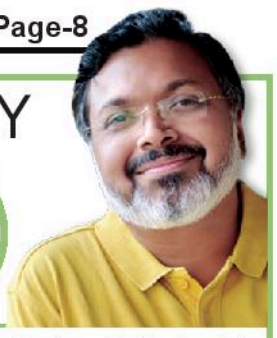
DECODING MYTHOLOGY



Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

Mandhata, the Ancient King

In folklore, Age of Mandhata refers to an ancient time, even before Krishna and Ram lived on earth. As per the Mahabharata, Mandhata was the son of Ram's ancestor, Yuvanashva. Yuvanashva wanted a child. But he consumed the magic potion that was meant to make his wife pregnant.

As a result, it was he who became pregnant. He then delivered a son. The Ashwini twins drew him out of his father's body. When he cried for milk, Indra cut his thumb. Milk oozed out and Mandhata suckled on it. To remind us of this incident, Gods decreed that all children will suckle their thumbs.

Mandhata was thus a man-child born of a man with men serving as the delivery nurse and wet nurse. This story is meant to show Mandhata as an extraordinary hyper masculine being, much valued in Tantrik tradition. This may be the reason why in later Hindu traditions Mandhata was linked to Shiva and we find Shiva temples linked to him in Madhya Pradesh and Odisha, regions also linked with 64 yogini shrines.

In Buddhist literature, Mandhata is a great king. He was so majestic that other kings in the neighbourhood would approach him and ask him voluntarily to become the ruler of their lands. Thus, he became the ruler of a vast empire. More and more kings approached him and handed over their kingdom.

Eventually, he became lord of all lands in the four directions. His glory reached a point where even Indra in the highest heavens invited him to share half of heaven and rule it. Mandhata was very pleased.

But after a while, Mandhata wondered why Indra had not given him all of heaven to rule. Why only half? Surely he was worthy of being king of heaven? As soon as this thought occurred to Mandhata, he fell down from heaven as an old and decrepit man. He died on earth after coming to the realisation that fortune received voluntarily is great, but fortune born of greed deserves a fall from grace. As long as Mandhata was someone who liked to serve people, prosperity came to him. The moment he became entitled, prosperity abandoned him.

Mandhata's story is carved on the walls of stupas which are found in Amravati, in the Godavari delta region of Andhra Pradesh. Mandhata is also riding a chariot and an elephant in the Bhaja caves, on the western coast of India near Mumbai. The Bhaja carvings are sometimes mistaken for the images of Surya and Indra. These carvings are over 2000 years old. They belong to the Satavahana period and are found at two ends of the cotton trade route that connected eastern coast of India with western coast of India. This trade route ran parallel to the Narmada River. On this river is an island even now known as Mandhata and is a popular pilgrim spot, full of Hindu and Jain temples.

The story of Mandhata was very popular amongst merchants and kings as it was a tale of power.

WORD OF THE DAY

Gauche

Pronunciation: GOHSH.
Meaning: Gauche means "having or showing a lack of awareness about the proper way to behave." When describing a person or a behaviour, gauche can mean "socially awkward" or "tactless"; when describing an object (such as a product with a vulgar image or slogan on it) it can mean "crudely made or done."
Origin: Although it doesn't mean anything sinister, gauche is one of several words (including sinister) with ties to old suspicions and negative associations relating to the left side and use of the left hand. In French, gauche literally means "left," and it has the extended meanings "awkward" and "clumsy." These meanings may have come about because left-handed people could appear awkward trying to manage in a mostly right-handed world, or perhaps because right-handed people appear awkward when trying to use their left hand. Regardless, awkwardness is a likely culprit. Fittingly, awkward itself comes from the Middle English awke, meaning "turned the wrong way" or "left-handed." On the other hand, adroit and dexterity have their roots in words meaning "right" or "on the right side."
Example: "When he completed his performance, [Olympic figure skater Nathan Chen] punched the air in celebration. Normally I find this display of open emotion a little bit gauche, but for Nathan, I'll allow it. He was exquisite." — Chris Schleicher

THE ODD WORD

Gaminesque

Playful; impish; boyish.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Beside oneself

Meaning: The phrase 'Beside oneself' describes a distressed person in an extreme emotional state, brought by a situation that causes one to be out of his wit and senses.
Origin: The first recorded use of the term is in the Old testament (Acts 26:24): "Paul, thou art beside thyself; much learning makes thee mad." The meaning of 'Beside Oneself' in the verse is that Paul's anger has driven him to the point of madness, however nowadays it describes a situation where a person is at an extreme mode of an emotion, such as happiness, sadness, madness or any other emotion.
Example: "I know Daniel saw your girlfriend at the movies last night with another man, but there's no reason to be beside yourself, he's probably her cousin."
